Toolkit

- a. Good practices and recommendations structured around real-life security and human rights challenges
- b. Users do not need to read the whole document; challenges are presented separately with good practices
- c. Builds on key guidelines and standards, such as the UNGPS, VPs, and OECD Due Diligence Guidance
- d. Available in English, Spanish, and French

Toolkit

- The primary audience for the Toolkit is any kind of company facing security and human rights challenges in complex environments.

- Recommendations in the Toolkit acknowledge and promote collaboration, particularly between companies, governments and CSOs.

- Toolkit may be useful for different actors as a means to foster common understanding and to identify practical ways of working with companies.

Challenge - ASM

Confrontation between companies and small-scale/artisanal miners.

Prevent: Engage with local communities

Address: Engage with public and private security actors

Sustain: Promote good security sector governance at the national level

Good Practices – Security Providers

- Engage with host government actors to improve national and local oversight and accountability of the public and private security sector. [3.9.A]
- Engage with communities to ensure an operational-level grievance mechanism that individuals can access effectively. [3.10.A]
- Conduct training based on locally-relevant scenarios and adapted to the background of participants. (If possible, invite community representatives as observers to gain an understanding of security roles and responsibilities) [3.7.A]

Good Practices - Communities

- Conduct a local context analysis. Aim to understand why trespassers may want to gain access (local artisanal miners vs. illegal trespassers). [4.5.B]
- Develop an inclusive, on-going stakeholder engagement strategy, focused particularly on vulnerable groups and those opposed to the project. [4.1.B]
- Develop a local content strategy. Maximise short-term employment and long-term training opportunities, while managing expectation about ‘alternative livelihoods’. [4.4.B]

Good Practices - Governments

- Support nationally-owned, inclusive security sector reform processes, strengthening government capacities. [1.2.C]
- Ensure a social license to operate, by supporting government-led consultations with local communities on land issues and potential resettlement plans. [4.4.E]
- Establish a broad-based security working group at the local level. [1.1.A]
- Mitigate impacts on livelihoods. (e.g. support government efforts to professionalise and formalise the artisanal mining sector, through the establishment of cooperatives) [4.4.E]
